Christina's Tips for Clear, Healthy Skin

- Hands off! Avoid touching your face with your hands because it can spread bacteria that clog and irritate pores. Before applying makeup or cleansers to your face, wash your hands with soap and water to reduce bacteria.
  - Don't be a chicken. Protein has been proven to fight acne breakouts. Balance your diet with healthy doses of protein found in fish, poultry and eggs.
  - Keep it clean. Regular facial cleansing is important. Pollution and oils cling to the skin and clog pores, producing toxins that leave the body through perspiration. If skin is not thoroughly cleaned, it will look and feel tired and the chances of irritation and breakouts are increased.
  - Less is more. Makeup can clog pores and irritate skin. Try not to overdo it and make sure to use hypoallergenic products when you can.
- Clean your cosmetic tools regularly. Cosmetic brushes get dirty, carry bacteria and germs and may cause skin irritations and break outs. It is recommended that you clean or replace your tools twice a month.
